

MILL CREEK UP AND MILAN HAS A FLOOD PANIC

Villagers Called Out at 3 A. M.
by the Ringing of the Fire Bell.

FEAR JOHNSTOWN HORROR
Phone Message From South Gives Exaggerated Report of Stream—
No Damage Results.

Milan had a flood scare early this morning, but fortunately it proved groundless. At 3 o'clock some one living on Mill creek south of the village telephoned that the stream was flooded back in the hills almost from bluff to bluff, and urged Milan people to run for their lives to high ground. The fire bell was rung and nearly everybody turned out, some with scant clothing. For a time the greatest alarm prevailed. Watchmen were posted on Mill creek southeast of town, and all was in readiness to make a quick swifter to safety on the bluff if conditions warranted. But there never was any danger, and finally the panic subsided.

Mill creek has for years been Milan's bugaboo. It drains a large area of bluff land, and in case of heavy rain its floods are enough to cause terror. High dykes have been built along the stream east and north of the village and these proved sufficient protection last night.

Lightning Strikes Home.

The only damage reported near Milan was from lightning, bolts striking the home of Mrs. Sarah Blakely, a couple of miles south of the village, and killing a horse owned by Phil Zahn, three miles east.

DIVORCE ASKED; HUSBAND INSANE

Mrs. Florence Lund Wants
Guardian Ad Litem Appointed for Watertown Inmate.

A petition for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for Charles E. Lund, who is now an inmate of the Watertown hospital, was filed in circuit court yesterday afternoon by his wife, Mrs. Florence Lund, who is suing him for divorce. P. H. Wells is attorney for the complainant.

Mrs. Lund brought suit for divorce against her husband on the ground of desertion. After the bill had been filed and service secured on the defendant, the latter went suddenly insane, and April 16 was ordered to Watertown. The wife is now asking that P. J. Meersman be appointed ad litem, in order that she can prosecute the divorce action.

INJUNCTION MAY DELAY CONTRACTS FOR ROADS

Progress of the state highway commission, which is preparing to let contracts for state roads under the Tice law, Rock Island county being among the rest, is likely to be delayed by injunction proceedings filed by Fred B. Townsend of Dekalb county to prevent the commissioner from purchasing cement. That body decided to purchase the cement for all the road work in the state, but Mr. Townsend declares that there is no warrant of law for such action and proposes to put the matter to a test.

DEVORE SIMONSON TO GIVE ADDRESS

Local Attorney Will Be Principal
Talker at Sane Fourth
Celebration Here.

PLANS BEING COMPLETED

Miss Marie Williams Will Read Declaration of Independence and Other Features Are Outlined.

Attorney Devore Simonson will give the principal address at the sane Fourth of July celebration, to be held at Long View park on the afternoon of Independence day.

Judge R. W. Olmsted was at first considered as the principal talker for the program, but a letter was received by Commissioner Jonas Bear from the judge stating that he was extremely busy with judicial work at Cambridge and that he would therefore be unable to participate in the demonstration.

Commissioner Bear reports that his plans are rapidly approaching completion and announces that as one of the features of the exercises he has secured Miss Marie Williams, a graduate of the Rock Island high school of the class of 1914, to read the Declaration of Independence.

Funeral Now is $253.

Commissioner Bear announced that he has now $253 in the fund for the celebration. This amount includes the $100 appropriation made by the city.

He declares that he would like to secure from $75 to $100 more in order to have a sufficient amount of money and asks that all who can afford it assist with donations.

TOURISTS STUCK IN MUDDY ROADS

Chicagoans Who Visited Rock
Island Find Progress Slow
West of Milan.

The score of Chicago men, members of the Illinois committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce who were entertained at the Rock Island club last evening and who remained over night at the New Harper, had great difficulty in driving through the muddy roads west of Milan this morning.

The tourists departed from this city in automobiles heading for Monmouth, but after they left Milan the roads became so bad, the result of last evening's downpour, that progress was slow, and at one point, near Chaney's lane, one-half mile west of the village, they were stuck in the mud for half an hour before they were able to proceed.

SON OF POLICEMAN KINNEY IS INJURED

Francis Kinney, aged 11 years, son of Police Officer John J. Kinney, 944 Twenty-second street, while picking cherries yesterday afternoon in a yard on Seventh avenue, fell from the limb on which he was perched and broke the wrist of his right hand. A doctor was called and he was given medical attention. He is getting along nicely, and it is expected will speedily recover from the injury.

LIGHTNING STRIKES IN SAME PLACE SECOND TIME

The old adage that lightning never strikes twice in the same place was again disproved last night when a bolt struck the residence of E. C. Richards at 1044 Fourteenth street. A window casing was torn out in the attic and other slight damage inflicted. Nobody in the house was affected by the stroke and the building did not take fire. The same residence was struck several years ago, the chimney being demolished.

A chimney at the home of Carl Schmoek, 1624 Fourteenth avenue, was demolished and a large hole torn in the roof when the dwelling was struck by lightning about 7:30 last evening when the storm was at its height. No fire resulted after the bolt struck, and members of the family who were in the house at the time escaped a shock.

TEAR DOWN BRICK WALLS TO EXTRICATE A CHILD

Chicago, Ill., June 25.—Nearly 2,000 persons watched firemen and policemen release Eva Rose Miller, 5 years old, from between two brick buildings at 4429 and 4431 Calumet avenue at noon yesterday. The little girl became wedged in the narrow space separating the two apartment houses and considerable masonry was torn away before she could be taken out. She was bruised and injured by a blow from a pick or crowbar.

While playing hide and seek with several companions in front of her home at 4429 Calumet avenue Eva Rose ran through the narrow space which separated the buildings. At the front the space is 8 1/2 inches wide and she was able to enter with ease. When within about three feet of the opposite end she fell and became firmly wedged between the two walls. Her struggles to extricate herself resulted in fastening her body more tightly between the structures.

Her cries brought her mother, Mrs. Charles Miller, and neighbors to the scene and the police of the Fifteenth street station were summoned. They could not extricate her and firemen of truck company No. 15 were called. Picks and crowbars were brought into play and after several minutes' work Policemen Farrell and Tallon released many bricks and rescued the child.

Eva Rose will be 5 years old Saturday. She was severely bruised by the contact with the brick walls and blood flowed from a wound in her side which the rescuers accidentally inflicted while removing the masonry. The tapering space between the two buildings is only 8 1/2 inches wide at the east end where the rescue was effected.

SEND YOUNG LAD TO HOME AT GLENWOOD

Harold Smith, nine year old son of Charles Smith, 1137 Thirty-fifth street, was this morning declared dependent by Judge B. S. Bell and will be taken to the Glenwood home this afternoon by Mrs. Margaret Schroeder, police matron.

The boy was charged with the theft of a bicycle in Moline March 30, 1914, and a delinquency petition was first filed against the lad, but because of his tender years, it was decided to change the charge to dependency.

SMITH SAYS WOODMEN WILL STICK TOGETHER

Attorney E. S. Smith of Springfield, according to the News of that city, returned home from the Modern Woodmen head camp predicting that there would be no defection from the ranks of the society as a result of the proceedings at Toledo. He said there might be some withdrawals of insurgents, but added that there would be no concerted action to cripple the organization. Mr. Smith was candidate for head consul as an insurgent and was recognized as the leader of that faction.
